Given a random polygon, calculating its area is in general a hard task. However, there is an easy formula that allows us to compute the areas of lattice polygons. In this talk, we will discuss this problem, and find the formula (discovered over 120 years ago!).